Merry Christmas ADC

It was our hope that the new Advocate tab on our website would be ready by now. Due to matters beyond our control, it isn’t. Therefore, we bring you a Christmas edition of The Advocate.

We are hoping that after this edition, we can transition into an online news source which will provide up-to-date news. If not, we will see you here again! Thank you for your submissions. Scott Grimes remembered

The Grimes Unit in Newport held a commemoration ceremony to mark the 20-year anniversary of the death of Sergeant Scott A. Grimes for whom the Unit was named. On hand were his brother (ADC retiree Mike Grimes), his daughter, his niece and his nephew.

On Nov. 29, 1995, just two months after being promoted, 41-year-old Correctional Sergeant Scott A. Grimes died as a result of injuries incurred while on duty at the Maximum Security Unit in Tucker. While escorting a handcuffed inmate in the Administrative Segregation cellblock, another inmate breached his cell door and attempted to assault the escorted inmate. Sergeant Grimes stepped toward the attacking inmate, pushed the handcuffed inmate out of the way, and subdued the attacking inmate.

He suffered two mortal stab wounds to the chest. Sergeant Grimes maintained control of the inmate until help arrived. His unselfish actions to protect the life of another without regard for his own, reflect the kind of person Scott Grimes was.

He was a devoted husband and father, leaving behind his wife of six years, Susie, and five young daughters. Scott Grimes was a loyal employee of the Arkansas Department of Correction for a little more than five years and was well respected by his colleagues. He volunteered much of his free time to working with youths in his community.

Grimes was buried in the uniform he proudly wore and was given full honors. He continues to be seen as a hero through the eyes of his fellow officers, his family, and all who knew him.
A year of change

The year 2015 has been one of many changes, and we have had tremendous support from the Governor, the legislature, our Board, ACC, the Parole Board, and law enforcement in Arkansas.

With all of this support, we were able to pay all of the earned holiday, straight time and overtime due to our security staff.

We worked to reduce overcrowding in our county jails. On Jan. 1, 2015, we had 2,205 inmates on the backup list, 2,847 on May 27, and Dec. 17, 2015, we have 1,279 waiting for bed space in ADC. Our intake and records staff have had to process more inmates than ever into and out of ADC, and they did a terrific job with support from Department staff at every unit working together! Units have squeezed additional beds into their facilities. Everyone has worked on this process to reduce the overcrowding which allows the jails to perform their role in public safety in our state by having lock up beds available!

We opened the Ester Unit and continue to improve our reentry programs. The Reentry Accountability Coaches and our Chaplains have worked to make sure all inmates have a reentry plan completed, and we continue to provide more information about services for those released. Jan. 30, there will be a mentor recruiting effort with more details to follow!

Our IT staff continues to work on ways to save money, consolidate services, and make programming changes to comply with the 2015 laws passed in Arkansas, including the Transparency Act and the Criminal Justice Reform.

The Agency continues to move forward to carry out our mission in the most efficient and safe manner possible, recognizing that most of our inmate population will return to our communities. We have celebrated numerous victories, promotions, retirements, changes, and growth as well as reductions!

We will continue to face new challenges, and existing challenges will not disappear. Continue to show respect for each other, our policies, and strive to guide our agency to be the best. Let’s continue to make ADC shine knowing that there will be one or two people that let us down.

I will remember our ADC family members who will be working through the holidays. I trust that their families will continue to understand and support them in keeping their responsibilities met and everyone safe! Our mission cannot be met without each one of you!

Merry Christmas to those who celebrate, and may you all feel peace and love at home.

Thank you for all you do every day and stay safe!

The event began with a continental breakfast and music from the Cummins Band. After the race, ADC employees handed out door prizes donated by local businesses.

Awards were given to the top three male and female finishers in 12 age divisions of the walk/run. The winner of the t-shirt design contest was Sonia Wallace from Administration East.

Correctional Peace Officers help again

The Correctional Peace Officers (CPO) Foundation is a national, non-profit charitable organization created in 1984. Its primary function is to preserve and support the surviving families of correctional officers who lose their lives in pursuit of their chosen profession of protecting the public from those remanded to correctional custody and supervision in the nation’s prisons and jails.

Recently, Director Wendy Kelley, on behalf of CPO, presented a check to retired ADC employee John Byus during a difficult time.

Registered with the IRS, the CPO Foundation is not a political action group or committee of any kind, nor is it affiliated with any political action group or committee of any kind, nor is it involved in any collective bargaining issues with any employee groups, associations and/or administrations.

It is the policy of the CPO Foundation to recognize privatization in the field of corrections. The CPO Foundation adheres to the policies of the federal government’s Department of Justice. Those policies recognize only law enforcement officers within the public sector.

The CPO mission statement is: The purpose of the Correctional Peace Officers Foundation, Inc. is to operate and maintain a general fund for the perpetuation of the memory of those correctional peace officers killed in the line of duty; to provide for their spouses, children or other beneficiaries; and to promote and project a positive image of the corrections profession, both internally and to the general public.

The CPO Foundation defines catastrophic as when an officer and/or staff member at a correctional facility, because of a catastrophic illness, injury, or event, are suffering severe financial hardship. Resources within the Catastrophic Assistance Program are not infinite. They are limited and the catastrophic coordinators, along with contacts at the individual facilities, must verify and explore the extent of the financial need. The Catastrophic Assistance Program is not intended to supplement an entire paycheck and is primarily for correctional staff, their spouse or dependent children.

The CPO Foundation Board of Directors strongly considers assisting correctional staff in situations related to natural disasters: fire, flood, earthquake, tornado, etc.

AD 13-16 Sexual Harassment Investigative Procedures

POLICY:
It is the policy of the Department of Correction that all allegations of sexual harassment (as defined in AR 226) will be handled in an expeditious and thorough manner while maintaining the confidentiality of the allegations, as much as possible.

EXPLANATION:
Sexual harassment allegations must be investigated, and if sexual harassment is found to have occurred, appropriate action must be taken to ensure it is stopped and does not reoccur.

PROCEDURE:
An employee must notify a supervisor at any level in the organization, EEO/Grievance Officer at Central Office or Warden, that she/he is being sexually harassed. The following procedure shall be used by supervisors or EEO/Grievance Officer in the handling of sexual harassment allegations. An employee must notify the Warden after notification to the supervisor or EEO/Grievance Officer.

A. Upon Receiving Allegation: Supervisors or EEO/Grievance Officer at Central Office must immediately notify the Warden/Administrator of the allegation.

B. Investigative Stage: The Warden/Administrator, upon receiving the allegation, shall take the following steps:
   1. Advise the complainant that an investigation will be conducted.
   2. Notify the accused of the allegation and eliminate workplace interaction between the complainant and the accused.
   3. Avoid taking any action, including involuntary reassignment of the complainant to less desirable job duties, which might be interpreted as punishing the complainant for making the allegation.
   4. Keep the investigation as confidential as possible, but avoid guaranteeing absolute confidentiality to any of the parties.
   5. The Warden/Administrator shall contact the Internal Affairs Division and may ask for assistance in investigating the allegation.
   6. The investigation must be begun and completed promptly.

C. Investigative Steps:
   1. Interview the complainant and gather as much information as possible, including specific details of what happened, when, where, and whether there were any witnesses or supporting evidence. Ask the complainant how he/she responded to the alleged conduct, including whether the complainant expressed in any way that the conduct was unwelcome. Ask when the complainant first complained about this conduct and to whom. Advise the complainant that any further alleged misconduct must be reported immediately. Remind complainant to keep the matter confidential pending the investigation.
   2. Interview the accused and explain the Department’s policy against sexual harassment, the need to investigate, and that any retaliation against the complainant is strictly prohibited. Ask for his/her version of the events, getting as much detail as possible. If the accused denies the allegation or claims that some or all of his/her behavior was welcomed by the complainant, ask for any supporting evidence or witnesses. If the allegation is denied, explore whether the complainant would have any motive to fabricate an allegation. Remind the accused to keep the allegation confidential pending the investigation.
   3. Interview any witnesses who have been identified. Consider interviewing other employees of the same sex as the complainant who have worked with the accused, to see whether they had any similar experiences. Remind witnesses to keep information confidential pending the investigation.
   4. Evaluate Evidence: After gathering as much information as feasible, evaluate the evidence to arrive at a conclusion. Consider the demeanor of the complainant and the accused, whether there are any inconsistencies in either of the stories, any possible motives for fabrication, the statements from witnesses, whether there have been any similar allegations asserted against the accused, and any other available evidence. The complainant’s burden or proof is met if the evidence as a whole makes it more likely than not that the allegation is true. It is not necessary that the allegation be proven “beyond a reasonable doubt.” If the investigation is inconclusive, disciplinary action is not warranted, but the accused should be counseled that sexual harassment will not be tolerated and that actions will be taken if any harassment occurs in the future. The Warden/Administrator should consider taking appropriate actions to minimize future contact between the complainant and the accused. If the investigation substantiates the allegation, disciplinary action must be taken against the accused in accordance with the appropriate Administrative Directive on employee conduct standards. The Warden/Administrator should consider the seriousness of the harassment and history of similar problems on the part of the accused. The corrective actions must be reasonably calculated to put an end to the harassment. If the accused is not discharged, he/she should be warned that any future harassment or retaliation may result in discharge. The Warden/Administrator should take any other appropriate action to avoid further problems between the two affected employees.
   5. Report: A written report should be prepared and filed with Internal Affairs summarizing the allegation, the accused’s response, other evidence, all conclusions, and the action to be taken. The Warden/Administrator should then inform the complainant and the accused of the results of the investigation, i.e., whether the allegation was substantiated or not substantiated. After concluding the investigation, and taking any immediately appropriate corrective actions, the Warden/Administrator should continue to monitor the situation to ensure that no further problems develop.
   6. A supervisor who observes conduct that constitutes sexual harassment, even if no such allegations are made by the victim(s), must make a report to the Warden/Administrator.
   7. If the Warden/Administrator is the subject of a sexual harassment allegation, the term “Warden/Administrator” in the preceding subsections should be replaced with that person’s supervisor or other appropriate official higher in the chain of command.
   8. Policy Dissemination: Policy will be distributed to all employees of the Department of Correction.
The Advocate: A publication for employees of the Arkansas Department of Correction’ will transition into an online news source which will provide up-to-date news. For your pictures, events, and news, please tune in daily under the upcoming ADVOCATE tab on our website: adc.arkansas.gov. Continue to send your submissions to Kat at The Advocate kathlyn.atkinson@arkansas.gov.

Health Matters

The flu season is upon us: CDC urges three actions

CDC urges you to take the following actions to protect yourself and others from influenza (the flu):

Take time to get a flu vaccine.

CDC recommends a yearly flu vaccine as the first and most important step in protecting against flu viruses. While there are many different flu viruses, a flu vaccine protects against the viruses that research suggests will be most common.

Flu vaccination can reduce flu illnesses, doctors’ visits, and missed work and school due to flu, as well as prevent flu-related hospitalizations and deaths.

Everyone 6 months of age and older should get a flu vaccine as soon as the current season’s vaccines are available.

Vaccination of high risk persons is especially important to decrease their risk of severe flu illness. People at high risk of serious flu complications include young children, pregnant women, people with chronic health conditions like asthma, diabetes or heart and lung disease and people 65 years and older.

Vaccination also is important for health care workers, and other people who live with or care for high risk people to keep from spreading flu to them.

Children younger than 6 months are at high risk of serious flu illness, but are too young to be vaccinated. People who care for infants should be vaccinated instead.

Take everyday preventive actions to stop the spread of germs.

Try to avoid close contact with sick people.

While sick, limit contact with others as much as possible to keep from infecting them. If you are sick with flu-like illness, CDC recommends that you stay home for at least 24 hours after your fever is gone except to get medical care or for other necessities. (Your fever should be gone for 24 hours without the use of a fever-reducing medicine.)

Cover your nose and mouth with a tissue when you cough or sneeze. Throw the tissue in the trash after you use it.

Wash your hands often with soap and water. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand rub. Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth. Germs spread this way.

Clean and disinfect surfaces and objects that may be contaminated with germs like the flu.

For more information about actions – apart from getting vaccinated and taking medicine – that people and communities can take to help slow the spread of illnesses like influenza (flu), visit the Centers for Disease Control website at www.cdc.gov.

Take flu antiviral drugs if your doctor prescribes them.

If you get the flu, antiviral drugs can be used to treat your illness. Antiviral drugs are different from antibiotics. They are prescription medicines (pills, liquid or an inhaled powder) and are not available over-the-counter.

Antiviral drugs can make illness milder and shorten the time you are sick. They may also prevent serious flu complications. For people with high risk factors, treatment with an antiviral drug can mean the difference between having a milder illness versus a very serious illness that could result in a hospital stay.

Studies show that flu antiviral drugs work best for treatment when they are started within two days of getting sick, but starting them later can still be helpful, especially if the sick person has a high-risk health condition or is very sick from the flu. Follow your doctor’s instructions for taking this drug.

Flu-like symptoms include fever, cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, body aches, headache, chills and fatigue. Some people also may have vomiting and diarrhea. People may be infected with the flu, and have respiratory symptoms without a fever.

Growing up, the Frye sisters reveled in Christmas traditions. We each had an ornament box filled with decorations handed down to us by other family members or those made by our own small hands at school and church. I had two favorites: a little angel crafted out of a pinecone and a dainty egg covered with tiny paintings and glitter.

Each Christmas Eve, while drinking hot chocolate or apple cider, one of us would sit in front of the fireplace to read the Christmas story. Next, we passed out presents to our parents and any other family members who had joined us that year to celebrate.

We went around the circle, with one person opening one present at a time. Many years, the recipient of my middle sister’s gifts would find herself unwrapping and opening a series of boxes tucked inside one another. (Jennifer delighted in drawing out the suspense.)

On Christmas morning, we ran into the living room to unwrap our “Santa gifts” and rummage through stockings. As we grew older, the Santa gifts disappeared. We continued, however, to stuff stockings well into our high school and even college years.

For me, family traditions are what make Christmas even more special than it already is. That’s why, once I had children, I was determined to establish our own rituals. Many are the same as those to which I adhered throughout my own childhood. Others were created by us over time. Those include baking and decorating cookies only on Christmas Eve, and, in the past, putting together a stash of carrots for the reindeer.

We open a few of our gifts on Christmas Eve and the rest on Christmas morning. And we do so one at a time, so that everyone can see and appreciate each other’s creativity and thoughtfulness.

We don’t have store-bought Christmas decor. Instead, I use the kids’ holiday artwork, which I have saved over the years for this very purpose.

Paper reindeer, drawn years ago by my daughter, prance across the mantel. My son’s trees and angels dangle above the entrance to our dining room.

Like me, my children each have an ornament box. Some of the decorations were made by them. Others come from my parents’ travels. (My mother loves buying handmade ornaments in other countries.) Many, however, come from my own ornament box, which I took with me when I left home.

Those include the little pinecone angel and the fragile painted egg.

Yes, our tree is a haphazardly decorated affair. Nothing matches. There is no color scheme or theme. Many of the ornaments are crudely constructed, made by hands too tiny for crayon or scissors coordination.

To me, however, it is -- and always will be -- the prettiest tree in the world.

Merry Christmas!

A self that is only differentiated - not integrated - may attain great individual accomplishments, but risks being mired in self-centered egotism. By the same token, a person who self is based exclusively on integration will be well connected and secure, but lack autonomous individuality. Only when a person invests equal amounts of psychic energy in these two processes and avoids both selfishness and conformity is the self likely to reflect complexity.
